An anchor and a buoy for Punaluu, Hawaii, was taken in the Mauna Loa today.

There was a row aboard the Samanthia last night, in which a half dozen tars tried to do up the mate.

The schooner Kauikaouli brought in sugar from Hamakua today. Rough weather is reported up that way. The other schooners had no sugar in when she left.

After a voyage of 88 days, the bark Callao last night arrived from Newcastle, N. S. W., with coal. She experienced calms and head winds nearly the whole voyage.

This morning the four masted schooner Aloha made port, after a voyage of 16 days from San Francisco. Besides a full general cargo, she brought 389 hogs and 14 horses on deck. The horses are owned by Mr. McDonald, who was a passenger. Two of the animals are said to be speedy. All were in fine condition.

A fine, black Newfoundland dog, belonging to the captain of the British ship Samantha, jumped overboard at Sorenson's wharf this morning, and seemed to enjoy the water so much that he did not want to come out. The skipper, aided by several apprentice boys and a couple of natives in a boat, after a lot of trouble succeeded in taking him from the bay.

A Modern View.

Manma—Why were the five virgins whose lamps lacked oil called foolish?
Tommy—Maybe they had their bikes with 'em.—Truth.

The English Expatriate.
An intelligent Hindoo has been heard to define billiards as a game in which two men, armed with long sticks, poke at a ball, while one player says, "Oh, —!" and the other "Hard lines!" Golf seems to have similarly impressed the native South African mind. A Kafir warrior was observed attentively watching the efforts of certain unskillful players to extract their ball from one of those deep bunkers which greatly abound on African courses. The following day he was seen to be belaboring a great boulder with a huge pole, shouting "—!" the while.
"This white man's game," said the dusky child of nature, "Welly good game white man's game." The story has the merit of being true. All golf stories are.—Windsor Magazine.

A Better Judge.

Mr. Gotrox—And so you are the noble fellow who rescued my wife from in front of the trolley car at the risk of your life? Take this quarter, my heroic man, as an expression of our undying regard.
Mr. Raglets—All right, boss. You know better'n I do what the woman's with.—Up to Date.

Knights of the Golden Eagle.
St. Mary's commandery of Altoona won the first prize in the competitive drill at the meeting of the grand castle of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Lottie Turner is now grand temple of the Ladies of the Golden Eagle of Pennsylvania and Mrs. J. Y. Walters grand guardian of records.

There are 89 temples of the Ladies of the Golden Eagle in Pennsylvania, a gain of 16 since last August.
